

Introduction to bibliographic references – Cardiff University Harvard Style

When writing essays and assignments, your lecturers will ask you to use the Cardiff University Harvard style for your bibliographies. To demonstrate what those references would look like, you will find some examples of bibliographic references below.

Books:

Author/s	Publication year	Book title	Edition	Place of publication	Publisher
↓	↓	↓	↓	↓	↓
Kattan-Ibarra, J. and Pountain, C.J. 2003. Modern Spanish grammar: a practical guide . 2nd ed. London: Routledge.

Book chapters from an edited book:

Author/s	Publication year	Chapter title	Book editor	Book title	Place of publication	Publisher	Page numbers
↓	↓	↓	↓	↓	↓	↓	↓
Pasquino, G. 2000. Political Development. In: McCarthy, P. ed. Italy since 1945 . Oxford: Oxford University Press, pp. 69-94.

Journal articles:

Author/s	Publication year	Article title	Journal title	Volume	Issue	Page numbers
↓	↓	↓	↓	↓	↓	↓
Marchal, R. 1998. France and Africa: the emergence of essential reforms? International Affairs 74(2), pp. 355-72.

Websites:

Author/s	Publication year	Website title	Place of publication	Publisher / Organisation
↓	↓	↓	↓	↓
Wurzel, R.K.W. 2008. The Politics of Emissions Trading in Britain and Germany [Online]. London: Anglo-German Foundation for the Study of Industrial Society. Available at: http://www.agf.org.uk/cms/upload/pdfs/R/2008_R1493_e_politics_of_emissions_trading.pdf [Accessed: 20th January 2010].
		↑ URL		↑ Date when last accessed