- General Data Protection Regulation
- Freedom of Information Act 2000
- Environmental Information Regulations 2004

4. POLICY STATEMENT

4.1 General Data Protection Regulation

All requests from individuals for access to their personal file(s) for their own purposes, should normally be channelled through the formal Subject Access Request procedure unless the volume and nature of the information means that this can be facilitated locally. If unsure advice should be sought from Assurance Services. There is no fee under the GDPR for Subject Access Requests however a reasonable fee may be charged where a request is manifestly unreasonable or repetitive or where further copies of already recently provided personal data is requested. This fee will take account administrative costs.

4.2 Freedom of Information Act 2000

i) Under the Freedom of Information Act the University may charge for the costs of searching for and extracting information not included in the Publication Scheme, where this is estimated to exceed the appropriate limit. The appropriate limit is defined in the supporting fees regulations and is currently a total of £450, or 18 hours based on a flat rate of £25 per hour per member of staff. Where it is estimated that it will take longer than 18 hours to locate and/or retrieve all the information requested, the School/Directorate(s) providing the estimate may be asked to supply evidence or provide a detailed breakdown of search costs to Assurance Services.

ii) Where a request under the Freedom of Information Act exceeds the appropriate limit Assurance Services shall either issue a fees notice and/or, having consulted with the relevant School/Directorate(s) where necessary, refuse the request under Section 12 and advise the requester as to what is available under the threshold.

iii) The University may only charge for the release of information included under its Publication Scheme where the Publication Scheme records that the material is subject to a charge. Information which the University intends to make routinely available to the public upon payment must be included in the Publication Scheme. Any charges levied in this manner may be retained by the School/Directorate responsible for publishing the information.

4.3 Environmental Information Regulations 2004

Under the Environmental Information Regulations the University may, in theory, make a reasonable charge for providing information upon request with no thresholds or ceilings. However for transparency and simplicity the flat rate calculation applicable to Freedom of Information requests shall be applied.

4.4 Disbursements

In relation to requests made under the Freedom of Information Act or Environmental Information Regulations the University may charge a reasonable sum for disbursements. For administrative simplicity and cost effectiveness the University will not charge for disbursements where these are estimated as being under £10.
