1. Programme Structure

The programme structure is admirably broad, with candidates offered ample opportunity to express competence across important aspects of performance, performance studies, interpretation, organology and performance cultures.

2. Academic Standards

These are of an appropriate standard in my view, comparable to current MMus work elsewhere on programmes with which I am familiar. This year the musical performance standards were perhaps a little disappointing overall.

3. The Assessment Process

This is rigorous and in particular the feedback given to students (including on their performances) is detailed and constructive.

4. Year-on-Year Comments

I have nothing specific to report here in terms of follow-up from 2012-13. What I note with confidence is a consistency of treatment across the breadth of the programme.

5. Preparation / Induction Activity (for new External Examiners only)

N/A

6. Noteworthy Practice and Enhancement

The opportunity for students to gain hands on experience of music editorial methods within this programme is of great potential benefit to them as performers.

7. Appointment Overview (for retiring External Examiners only)

N/A
