Noted

Introduction by Vice-Chancellor

- that the University had successfully managed the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic and had initiated a Gold and Silver command team to manage the initial crisis; as time had progressed, an operational Task Group had also been implemented to manage business as usual;
- that due to the emergence of the new variant and following in-house scientific advice, the University had delayed resuming on-site teaching for all until at least the 22 February 2021 and this date was kept under constant review;
- that the University was playing a leading role in tracking the new variant through its own laboratory services;
- 394.1 that the University had exceeded its student intake targets in all areas;
- that there had been a record level of research income awards, totalling over £150m;
- 394.1 that work had slowed on capital projects due to the pandemic but not stopped and these continued to progress;
- that the University had pivoted quickly and successfully to deliver teaching and assessments virtually and thanks were extended to staff and students for their hard work and co-operation;
- 394.1 that thanks were extended to colleagues working in Professional Services who were supporting students currently on site and in University accommodation;
- that the future political landscape was uncertain, especially in relation to the impact of Brexit on schemes such as Turing and Horizon Europe and the 2021 Senedd Elections which would see a new Minister for Education;
- that there also remained uncertainty over the UK International Education Strategy and the outcomes of the Augar report;
- that in response to a question, there had been a large amount of positive feedback from staff and students in providing teaching digitally and the University would be looking at how to incorporate these positives going forward;

- that in response to a question, although there had been challenges in the ability to undertake research (for example by being unable to access facilities), it was hoped the majority of these challenges would be overcome as soon as pandemic restrictions were lifted;
- that the University was already reviewing the impact of the pandemic in the longer term and the best way to provide education for students in the future:

Presentation from the Chief Financial Officer

- that the University ended the financial year in July 2020 with an operating surplus of £14.1m; following adjustment for one-off non-cash items, mainly around pensions, the reported total surplus was £31m;
- that given the restrictions throughout the year, the University had seen reduced income from research and commercial areas such as residences and catering;
- that total income for the year had increased by 5.6%, mainly due to an increase in tuition fee income and HEFCW grants;
- operating expenditure had also increased by 1.8%, due to increased staff costs and costs associated with ensuring a COVID-safe site;
- that postgraduate student figures had increased by over 30% in the last four years, with undergraduate student figures up by 10%; similarly, international student figures were up by over 30% and home/EU students by 11% in the same period;
- that recurrent grants to the University had dropped over recent years, and had only started to increase from 2018/19;
- that staff numbers had decreased, but staff costs had increased by 5.4%, mainly due to an increase in pension contributions.
