

Part Two: Fee and Access Plan (required for publication)

Fee and Access Plan
Name of institution	Cardiff University
Duration of the fee and access plan	1 August 2023 to 31 July 2025.
Section 1 - Fee levels
Section 1.1 – Fee levels or the determination of a fee level at each location (Guidance paragraphs 88-97)
Fee level	Location of course
For new entrants starting in 2024/25: £9,000 for the 2024/25 academic year; maximum regulated fee for each academic year thereafter. (If a student has an Interruption of Study (IOS) in their first year, we would not increase their tuition fee to repeat that year). For continuing students who started in 2021/22 or earlier: £9000 per annum for the remainder of their course. For continuing students who started their course in 2022/23 or 2023/24: Maximum regulated fee	Cardiff University – On campus Home Undergraduate

For students who started their course in 2022/23 or 2023/24 who have had an Interruption of Study (IOS): £9000
20% of the maximum regulated fee For students who started their course in 2022/23 or 2023/24 who have had an IOS: £1800	Home Undergraduate students who are completing the professional placement year or the year in industry.
15% of the maximum regulated fee For students who started their course in 2022/23 or 2023/24 who have had an IOS: £1350	Home Undergraduate students who are completing the year of study abroad or the placement year abroad.
Up to the maximum regulated fee For MArch students who started their course in 2022/23 or 2023/24 who have had an IOS: £4500	Work based learning year with higher attendance requirement. Some of our courses have an element of learning in the workplace. Where the fee for the year of work-based learning is less than the maximum regulated fee, the fee may be subject to annual review. Up to date information about fee levels is provided on the University's tuition fee page and course fee pages.
Section 1.2 - Aggregate fee levels (Guidance paragraphs 98-102)
Aggregate fee levels Aggregate fees for the whole duration of the course will depend on the length of the programme, and whether or not the programme includes any of the following: a Professional Placement Year or a Year in Industry (currently 20% of the maximum regulated fee); a Year of Study Abroad or a Placement Year Abroad (currently 15% of the maximum regulated fee); a Work based learning year with higher attendance requirement.

As set out in the fee level information above, total aggregate fees for the whole duration of the course will also depend on the year a student started their course, and on whether and when a student had an IOS requiring them to repeat a year of the course.

Aggregate fees for the whole duration of the course could also be affected by, for example, whether a student needs to repeat a year of study for reasons other than an IOS.

The University reserves the right to increase tuition fees in the second and subsequent years of a course as permitted by law or by Welsh Government policy. Where applicable we will notify students of any change in tuition fee by the end of June in the academic year before the one in which the fee will increase.

This potential for fee increases is communicated to applicants in the offer letter, and in the terms and conditions which are brought to the attention of students in the offer letter. It is also made clear on the tuition fee (<https://www.cardiff.ac.uk/study/undergraduate/tuition-fees>) and course pages of our website (see example below).

Where fee variations apply to courses due to a period of placement or overseas study while registered at Cardiff University, these are clearly communicated at the time of application, and on the tuition fee page of our website.

How Cardiff University communicates fee information to students

Cardiff University's communications are aimed at potential applicants to the University, current students, parents and carers, staff in secondary schools and colleges including teachers and careers advisors, and University staff in order to ensure that all stakeholders receive accurate, timely and consistent information. We ensure that the information provided meets the requirements set out in the UK Quality Code for Higher Education with specific reference to course design and development. We endeavour to comply with the letter and the spirit of the Consumer Rights Act 2015 and are committed to incorporating all higher education consumer law advice and guidance into our internal processes.

Our student complaints and appeals procedures meet the requirements set out in the UK Quality Code for Higher Education with specific reference to the theme of concerns, complaints and appeals and the requirements of the OIA Good Practice Framework. We take into account consumer legislation and relevant guidance from the Competition and Markets Authority (CMA), Office for Students (OfS) and Quality Assurance Agency (QAA), and the national and sector context, as well as the individual circumstances of the student's case.

Communication methods include:

Website

- Dedicated web pages contain information on tuition fees, funding opportunities including scholarships and bursaries, and student support. The pages include links to other related websites including Student Finance Wales/England/Scotland/Northern Ireland, States of Jersey/Guernsey and the Isle of Man, as well as signposting applicants to useful University contacts.
<https://www.cardiff.ac.uk/study/undergraduate/tuition-fees>.
- Course webpages include information about why to study the course, entry requirements, tuition fees, course structure, learning and assessment, careers and where relevant, fieldwork. Subject specific information is provided to help prospective students make the best possible decisions. Examples: Environmental Geography \(BSc\) - Study - Cardiff University and History \(BA\) - Study - Cardiff University.
- In addition, it's possible for prospective students to chat online to current students to find out more about the course they are interested in, and there is also a chat bot to provide a further source of information.

Marketing materials/open days/outreach activity

- The University communicates information on fees and support available to prospective students at physical open days, visit days, webinars and other virtual events, HE fairs and schools and colleges liaison activity. It is also available in prospectuses, brochures, a student finance guide and advice from University staff. Information is included in presentations for teachers and careers advisers as well as in the student finance talks for applicants and their parents.
- We use social media including Facebook, Instagram, blogs and YouTube to communicate with prospective and current students.
- Relevant information is also communicated to those taking part in our various Widening Participation programmes.

Email

- Fees are outlined in the formal offer letter sent by email to applicants. Our offer letter details the tuition fees payable for the first year of the programme and explains that the University reserves the right to increase tuition fees in the second and subsequent years of a course as permitted by law or by Welsh Government policy. Any change in fee would be communicated to students for the following academic year by the end of June.
- We communicate with all offer holders in the form of a newsletter which details bursary provision.

Section 2 - Student Partnership (Guidance paragraphs 103-106)

Strategy

The University has recently engaged stakeholders in 'Y Sgwrs Fawr – The Big Conversation', to co-create our vision for the future of Cardiff University. This has led to the development of a new strategy, Our Future Together: Cardiff University's Strategy to 2035.

One of our key stakeholders is our students. A panel of over 50 students that reflect and are representative of the student population at the University, were recruited to support and develop Cardiff University's vision for the future. Through regular workshops between December 2023 and April 2024, students were trained in future skills, they interpreted and provided feedback on the survey results, and developed and narrowed down the archetypes of a potential future University. In workshops held from April 2024 to July 2024, students considered the vision, mission and direction of travel for the University for the next 10 years. This has helped shape the final strategy approved by the University Council in July 2024.

Our Widening participation strategy 2020-25 has four main aims:

- To engage and inspire people of all generations to consider higher education as a realistic and achievable option.
- To attract and recruit students with academic potential, regardless of background or personal experience.
- To enable successful transition to University and foster an excellent and supportive student experience.
- To nurture and encourage confident and successful futures for all.

Our approach to student engagement reflects the principles of Wise Wales¹.

Working with the Students' Union

The Student Charter outlines what students can expect from the University and the Students' Union, and our students' responsibilities in making the most of their university experience. It includes expectations of openness, honesty, equality, diversity and celebration of Welsh language and culture. It is reviewed annually by the Students' Union and University to ensure its continued relevance. The University supports the Students' Union to achieve its goals, including: engaging all students, providing developmental/volunteering opportunities, creating sector-leading facilities and providing sporting activities, societies and independent advice services. Participation in recognised activities is included in the University's enhanced transcripts for students.

Students' Union elected officers participate as full members of major University committees and strategic groups including:

- Senate – our chief academic authority, responsible for academic priorities.
- Council - the governing body of the University. It is responsible for the executive management and conduct of the affairs of the University, including finances and estates.
- Governance Committee – advises Council on the level of compliance by the University with the mandatory requirements of legislation and other regulations.
- Policy and Resources Committee – responsible for scrutiny of capital funding for initiatives and evaluating impact.
- Education & Student Experience Committee - responsible for providing strategic direction and advising the University on all matters relating to education and the student experience across the full range of its provision for students.
- Academic Standards and Quality Committee – responsible for oversight of student progression and attainment.
- Welsh Medium Education Strategy Group – responsible for oversight of the University's Welsh medium strategy and development of further Welsh medium provision.
- Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Committee – shall be responsible for advising the Council through the Governance Committee on the development and implementation of strategies for ensuring legal compliance and best practice in all matters relating to equal opportunities and diversity.

Student officers also serve on the steering boards for all our student-facing projects. They have direct and regular access to senior decision-makers, including the Vice Chancellor and other members of the University Executive Board (UEB). As part of our quality assurance processes students are formal members of the standing panel that considers all significant programme changes and developments, our Annual Review and Enhancement Committees and all Periodic Review Panels. Students' Union officers also serve on our Academic Appeals, Complaints, Disciplinary and Fitness to Practise appeal panels.

The University is a supportive partner in the Students' Union annual 'Speak Week', which is a highlight of the student voice calendar. Students are asked 'If you ran the University, what would you keep and what would you change?'; a question which consistently generates a wide range of constructive feedback. From the student feedback gathered during Speak Week, the Students' Union produces an annual Student View for our University Council. A University response to The Student View and an action plan are agreed by University Executive Board and received by University Council for scrutiny. Activities and actions are monitored and evaluated by the Student View Strategy Group which meets at least three times a year and is co-chaired by the Students' Union President and the Pro Vice-Chancellor for Student Experience & Academic Standards.

We have an established partnership project model to develop a deeper understanding of student views on specific issues in The Student View and to inform policy development and organisational change. Each project includes membership of staff and students. Examples of topics covered include Understanding the experience of mature students; experience of students based at Heath Park campus; building learning community; and providing opportunities for meeting people.

The final meeting of the Student View Steering Group for the academic year culminates in a showcase of the findings and recommendations of the partnership projects.

Student Voice

We value our students' views and opinions, and our many student voice activities, working in partnership with the Students' Union, provide opportunities throughout the year for students to share their views about what the University is doing well and what it can do better. We also have mechanisms in place to communicate to students and to staff how student feedback has brought about change across the University. Work is ongoing to develop more agile and local feedback mechanisms for students, and in particular to reflect on the success of the new student voice mechanism Cardiff Pulse, introduced during 2021 to enable more rapid student feedback and support.

Managed in partnership with the Students' Union, our student academic representation system enables student representatives to play an important role in decision-making at course level, drawing on feedback from the wider student body. There is an annual cycle of training for our student representatives led by the Students' Union and delivered in partnership with School Student Rep Coordinators, and an annual training conference. Student reps engage with their programme cohorts and speak on their behalf in a range of well-established School and College fora. These include student-staff panels and regular College meetings of student panel chairs. This involvement ensures the student voice is heard and considered in decision-making.

Students are encouraged to provide feedback through a number of mechanisms either directly via feedback tools or via their peers of student representatives or the Student Champions team (see below). These include:

- Student-staff panels (SSPs) enable all student academic reps to meet with staff in their schools and share their student experiences on a regular basis. These meetings are chaired by a nominated student rep and minutes are taken by a student rep. SSP minutes are shared with the Students' Union who create a termly 'impact report', which outlines the key issues students are facing as well as areas of particular strength. Student-staff panel chairs are also invited to Boards of Study to discuss the feedback from students.
- College Forums are an opportunity for student chairs of School student-staff panels to come together and raise issues which have arisen in student-staff panels with the Students' Union officers, College Deans and other members of staff by invitation.
- Student Champions are current students engaged in paid positions by the University as change agents to help us to develop a deeper understanding of student views on specific issues, and ensure students are engaged with us as partners. They are supported through the Learning & Teaching Academy. These students have been involved in a variety of projects, including the design of user-experience (UX) methodology for the Digital Learning Environment Review as well as providing valuable input into the development of our new system for Module Evaluation, increasing engagement with the National Student Survey and facilitating partnership projects and workshops for various initiatives relating to student experience.

- Module evaluation, now called Module Enhancement, has been redeveloped and built on a new system Blue, by Explorance. It provides students the opportunity to give feedback on all their modules via an easy-to-use, mobile-friendly online tool. These data provide a deeper understanding of trends in student satisfaction across the University and help to highlight priorities for responsive and appropriate action at school and University levels. Module convenors report back to students on module enhancement data and actions taken as a result of student feedback.
- National Student Survey (NSS) responses and feedback are received via the annual NSS of undergraduate final year students. The results of the NSS are scrutinised at school, college and university levels, with priorities for action and improvement identified and monitored via the Education & Student Experience Committee.
- Survey Management Framework - A singular institutionally owned framework which ensures that the student voice be heard and acted upon, with closure of feedback loops at all levels. The framework provides a streamlined cycle of design, analysis, reporting and publication for all student surveys as well as clarity on the governance, responsibility, data ownership and engagement with key stakeholders. We are in the process of reviewing our Survey Management Framework to come into effect for 2022/23. The changes will include further in-year monitoring; more robust risk management and intervention; and clearly defined roles and responsibilities.
- Cardiff Pulse is newly introduced in 2021 and invites students to provide feedback to the University about how they are getting on at five key touchpoints in the year, through a series of six short questions. Cardiff Pulse is integrated into the Universities VLE and is framed as a conversation with students rather than a survey. Results, and closing the loop feedback, are reported to students each cycle via an intranet page.

Alongside these mechanisms, significant improvements have been made to Student Voice through the Student Voice programme of work which commenced in January 2021 and looks to radicalise the University's approach to student voice over the next three years. A Student Voice Steering Group was established in Summer 2021, which is developing a framework and roadmap for student voice for the next three years. The group also oversees key projects that enable enhancements to student voice and the student experience including reviewing our module evaluation system, our use of data, our approach to using local level feedback, and ensuring we have staffing structures in place to support a more local and agile approach to student voice. We have recently recruited ten Student Engagement Officers to support Student Voice at a local school level.

Development of the FAP is also influenced through consideration of the participant feedback that is routinely collected and analysed as part of our student experience programmes including:

- Step-Up

- Student mentoring
- Wellbeing champions
- Employability initiatives, and
- Global opportunities.

Our students also help to deliver several programmes and activities set out in the Plan. For instance:

- On-campus internships for developing Learning, Teaching and Research at Cardiff where undergraduate students have the opportunity to work collaboratively with staff on projects to enhance learning, teaching and research.
- HE roadshows delivered in partnership with Cardiff Metropolitan University, raises awareness of higher education and provides advice at an early stage about careers and subject choices. Our students design and deliver interactive presentations to pupils in years 9-11. It aims to raise awareness of higher education and its benefits and to motivate pupils. It provides careers advice relevant to HE at an early stage so that pupils make an informed choice about GCSEs and FE.

Student and staff feedback on these schemes is very positive, with academic colleagues noting the important impact of having student involvement on projects, giving it currency; students noting the scheme gives them an opportunity to be a co-partner with academics on projects as well as providing valuable employability experience.
