1. Programme Structure

The overall structure of this award is very coherent with a good balance between qualitative and quantitative modules. I am only responsible for reviewing the qualitative components of the programme and I found these to be appropriate for the level of study and to contain a suitable range of theory and practice based modules.

2. Academic Standards

The standards of the programme are comparable with those of equivalent Masters Programmes with which I am familiar at other Universities. Student performance, based on the samples that I viewed, indicated an expected range with some excellent work, some average and some below average work. There seemed to be some inconsistency in marking within and across some modules that I commented on in my more detailed feedback during the examination board.

3. The Assessment Process

Overall the assessment process was excellent with a good blend of diverse forms of assessment. Feedback to students was generally very thorough and helpful. Consistent evidence of second marking.

4. Year-on-Year Comments

This is my second year as External Examiner for this programme. The examination board ran smoothly and was chaired professionally. I had the opportunity to meet the Programme Director and other staff involved in the delivery of the modules that make up the programme at a buffet lunch before the examination board.

My suggestion last year that I review samples in the region of 10-20% but with a broad spread of grades worked well this year.

5. Preparation / Induction Activity (for new External Examiners only)

6. Noteworthy Practice and Enhancement

All of the modules have various merits. Of note, I continued to be impressed with the ways in which PST016: Research Skills in Practice exposed students to 'real-life' research in allowing them to join with a researcher or group of researchers. This module is commendable. Also, the 'problem-solving' skills that are developed in SIT725: Researching Crime, Safety & Justice is equally commendable as is the assessment on SIT700: Qualitative Research Methods - a fascinating module that allows students to develop a range of important qualitative research skills. Especially impressive is the way that the module seems to generate reflexivity.
