1. Programme Structure

The structure and aims of the program are extremely clear. As defined by the Module Handbook, the dissertation process of research, formulation, supervision and completion is clearly delineated and offers the student cohort an effective and timely methodology through which to pursue their work.

Students are provided with opportunities to formulate and discuss their work with peers and faculty, which provides the potential for research streaming and cross-fertilisation. The level of available supervisory support is commendable.

2. Academic Standards

The standard of the dissertations and quality of the students in defending the work was high in relation to other comparable institutions. The intellectual value of the dissertation module to student development is obvious and there were several well-produced dissertations over a wide range of topics. In general the formulation and execution of the dissertation topics was effective in furthering the student's engagement with architecture: an engagement that was often borne out during the oral examination.

3. The Assessment Process

The assessment process for the module is exemplary: it is both rigorous and fair. The Internal Assessment of the dissertations includes several readings, providing a comprehensive, fair and balanced assessment of the individual dissertations. Finally, the oral examination provides an invaluable – and unique – opportunity for the student to discuss and defend their work in detail.

4. Year-on-Year Comments

Overall, the standard and execution of the dissertations was similar to the 2013-14 presentation.

5. Preparation / Induction Activity (for new External Examiners only)

N/A.

6. Noteworthy Practice and Enhancement

The rigor with which the assessment process is undertaken is commendable. In particular, the final oral examination provides an extremely useful forum in which to discuss the student's work and their approach to the topic. This allows an opportunity to correlate the written work with the student's knowledge of their chosen subject area, together with facilitating a discussion of the value of the dissertation to their architectural knowledge.

In terms of enhancement, in certain cases the adherence to the writing methodology – with the contextual theoretical formulation followed by case studies – is overly didactic in its discussion of the topic. In the case of the more intellectually ambitious dissertations it may be productive to consider the inclusion of a counter-example, which would add nuance and depth to the thesis argument.

7. Appointment Overview (for retiring External Examiners only)
