

Cardiff University Modern slavery and Human Trafficking statement

INTRODUCTION

Modern slavery is a crime and a violation of fundamental human rights. It takes various forms, such as slavery, servitude, forced and compulsory labour and human trafficking, all of which have in common the deprivation of a person's liberty by another in order to exploit them for personal or commercial gain.

We are committed to improving our practices to combat slavery and human trafficking. In order to achieve this we are committed to understanding modern slavery risks and ensuring that there is no modern slavery in our own business and supply chains.

This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes our slavery and human trafficking statement for the financial year ending 31/07/2016.

ORGANISATIONAL STRUCTURE

We are an ambitious and innovative university with a bold and strategic vision located in a beautiful and thriving capital city. Our world-leading research was ranked 5th amongst UK universities in the 2014 Research Excellence Framework for quality and 2nd for impact. We provide an educationally outstanding experience for our students.

Driven by creativity and curiosity, we strive to fulfil our social, cultural and economic obligations to Cardiff, Wales, and the world. We have an annual turnover of £512M.

OUR SUPPLY CHAINS

The University meet its needs for goods, services and works in a way that achieves value for money on a whole life basis in terms of generating benefits not only to the organisation, but also to society and the economy, whilst minimising damage to the environment.

The University's supply chains mainly fall under five 'super-categories', which are:

- Laboratory Consumables and Equipment
- Library Resources
- Professional Services
- ICT Equipment and Services
- Estates Goods, Services and Works

The principal categories which carry material risks are office supplies, laboratory consumables, ICT equipment and some estates services, such as cleaning and security services.

Cardiff University is a member of the Higher Education Purchasing Consortium Wales (HEPCW). HEPCW works effectively alongside its counterpart UK Universities Purchasing Consortia and national groups, with which it enjoys progressive and successful relationships.

The joint contracting programme provides a comprehensive and mature collaborative portfolio, which includes some of the high risk categories listed above.

Many of our suppliers in these higher-risk categories have committed to the Base Code of the Ethical Trading Initiative (ETI) and the UK Universities Purchasing Consortia are working to persuade the remaining suppliers in these categories to join them. The ETI Base Code is founded on the conventions of the International Labour Organisation (ILO) and is an internationally recognised code of labour practice, requiring that:

1. Employment is freely chosen;
2. Freedom of association and the right to collective bargaining are respected;
3. Working conditions are safe and hygienic;
4. Child labour shall not be used;
5. Living wages are paid;
6. Working hours are not excessive;
7. No discrimination is practised;
8. Regular employment is provided; and
9. No harsh or inhumane treatment is allowed.

ICT Equipment

Cardiff University participates in a number of ICT equipment collaborative purchasing agreements.

Through these collaborative purchasing agreements, the University supports the principles of Electronics Watch, an independent monitoring organisation working to achieve respect for labour rights in the global electronics industry through socially responsible public purchasing in Europe. We work with our contracted suppliers to implement and commit to new monitoring regimes where corporate codes of conduct and social auditing policies and practices are failing in their transparency and effectiveness.

OUR POLICIES ON SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING

We are committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business.

In light of the obligation to report on measures to ensure that all parts of our business and supply chain are slavery free, we will review our workplace policies and procedures to assess their effectiveness in identifying and tackling modern slavery issues. Emerging government policy on ethical supply chains will also be considered by the University.

Our workplace policies and procedures will demonstrate our commitment to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to ensure slavery and human trafficking is not taking place anywhere in our supply chains.

DUE DILIGENCE PROCESSES FOR SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING

As part of our initiative to identify and mitigate risk we will put systems in place to:

- Identify and assess potential risk areas in our supply chains.
- Mitigate the risk of slavery and human trafficking occurring in our supply chains.
- Monitor potential risk areas in our supply chains.
- Protect whistle blowers.

TRAINING

To ensure a high level of understanding of the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking in our supply chains and our organisation, we intend to raise awareness of modern slavery and human rights abuses and deliver appropriate training to our staff. Procurement Services staff will complete the Chartered Institute of purchasing and Supply (CIPS) 'Ethical Procurement and Supply' on-line training, or equivalent.

FURTHER STEPS

The University is committed to understanding its supply chains better, achieving greater transparency and acting responsibly towards people working within them.

For contracts that we have awarded and participate in, we will identify those supply chains which represent a medium-to high-risk of modern slavery, human trafficking, forced and bonded labour, and labour rights violations. Working with our suppliers, collaborative purchasing groups and other relevant organisations, we will more closely monitor those supply chains that have been identified as a potential risk and take appropriate action if necessary.
